Mayor Schor Extends 2020 City of Lansing Income Tax Filing Deadline to June 1, 2021

(LANSING) – Mayor Andy Schor today announced that the City of Lansing will extend its 2020 City of Lansing income tax filing deadline from April 30, 2021, to June 1, 2021. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the IRS has pushed back the federal tax filing deadline to May 17, 2021, and the City of Lansing will follow suit allowing residents and businesses additional time to file their income taxes.

“Lansing will get through this pandemic and be stronger as a result. For that to happen, we need to do all we can to help those who live and work in Lansing. Yesterday, the federal government announced it will push back income tax collections for a month, and Lansing will also give residents and workers an additional month to file their income taxes,” said Mayor Schor. “Like the IRS, I urge taxpayers to file as soon as possible but recognize the necessity of having additional time.”

Income Tax Payments can be made:
